Re: .Net Developer Position — LinkedIn Job Post

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am Ashraf Alaa Gad, graduate from Faculty of Science Menoufia University (BSc Physics & Computer Science), currently enrolled in the Digital Egypt Youth (DEY) – HireReady Initiative by NTI - 4-month intensive full-stack development program. I came across your .Net Developer opening on LinkedIn and I am writing to apply for this position, as it closely aligns with my technical background and career aspirations.

I have developed solid hands-on experience in C#, ASP.NET Web API, EF Core, LINQ, and SQL Server — the exact stack your role requires.

My passion for technology extends well beyond the workplace. Recently, while visiting my dentist, I noticed he was designing a business card that did not reflect his professional identity. Without being asked, I volunteered to redesign it and also suggested improvements to his Facebook page to help increase his reach — and he was genuinely happy with the results. This reflects who I am: a self-motivated and committed person who naturally looks for ways to apply technology to help others.

Professionally, I completed a remote front-end internship at GamifierSA (Saudi Arabia), collaborating with a cross-border team to Create a professional website. For me, software development is not a job — it is a way of thinking.

I am excited about the opportunity to bring my .NET skills, proactive mindset, and dedicated spirit to Müller's Solutions. I would welcome the chance to discuss how I can contribute to your team. Please find my CV and GitHub portfolio attached for your review.

Thank you sincerely for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Ashraf Alaa Gad
